Leadership Pathways to Culture Change

Secrets to Success for Long-Term Care Leaders

Culture change leaders have identified that the most essential ingredient for success is strong leadership. Leadership is a skill set, just as management is. Through this intensive 2-day training, participants will learn how to influence others to move in a positive direction via principle-based empowerment and decision-making. This training builds on the insights offered through Principle Ten of the Eden Alternative Philosophy.

Participants will:

- Identify leadership strengths needed to guide a culture change journey;
- Practice leadership skills that will improve performance;
- Learn how to create a shared vision to guide the organization; and
- Return with resources, tools and information to grow other leaders.

Who should attend?

Representatives of long-term care communities who:

- Have sent some team members to Certified Eden Associate Training;
- Are committed to ongoing skill development; and
- Recognize the role of wise leadership in successful person-directed care.
